PROMISES WARMER WEATHER FOR FAIR

Fair Grounds Are Already Crowded with Biggest Exhibits of Stock in Its History

DOG SHOW TO BE BIG FEATURE

Over 250 Dogs to Show; the Speed Program Has Biggest Number of Entries Ever

The La Crosse Interstate fair, with a larger list of entrants than in any year, opens tomorrow morning. The disgruntled weather man is getting busy and has promised La Crosse and "vicinity" a rising temperature and clear skies for the entire week. Secretary C. S. Van Auker and a large corps of assistants have been bustling between their overworked office and the already crowded fair grounds getting things in shape. Every railroad leading into the city is carrying stock from the surrounding country. The list of exhibitors in this class is an exceptionally large one, Secretary Van Auker having obtained a number of the prize breeds of cattle, swine and horses from the fairs recently held at Milwaukee and Minneapolis.

250 Dogs in Show
The dog show this year which will be held on the grounds, will be a feature. Under the rules of the American Kennel club the show to be held here ranks among the best in the northwest and will add valuable marks to the pedigree of dogs who are entered. More than 250 dogs will be entered before the show opens.

Charles H. Niles of New York city, well known bird man, exhibiting the Curtiss aeroplane, will be seen three days of the fair. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and will make two thirty minute flights each day. Niles is of the younger generation of bird men, but a man who can thoroughly demonstrate the art of flying. His stunt will undoubtedly draw hundreds to the fair this year.

From reports coming from the office of the fair association the shows on the midway this season will not only be larger in number than any other year but will be the best obtainable. The famous King Kolz and a motordrome will be features.

Speed Program
As usual the racing will be one of the main drawing cards. The biggest number of horsemen in the fair's history have entered. The following is the list of entries:

Chicago Broker Gives Up All Hope Sues His Dancer-Wife For Divorce

Saharet.
After several vain attempts to persuade his wife to abandon the stage and live with him, Fritz von Frantzius, Chicago broker, who pursued the famous dancer, Saharet, until she married him, today filed suit for divorce. He alleges undue intimacy with a man in her company and others who are unknown to him.

TWENTY PASSENGERS INJURED

Dead Are All Trainmen; Motormen Crushed in Tiny Compartments
in First Cars

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Three trainmen were killed and twenty passengers injured when two steel electric trains on the Long Island railroad met in a head on collision early today at College Point. Long Island. The in-bound train was heavily loaded with passengers on their way to work in New York. The motormen of both trains were killed and one conductor lost his life. Both trains were made up of steel cars. There were four coaches to each train. At the offices of the Long Island railroad the cause of the wreck had not been learned early today. Appeals were sent to nearby hospitals and all available ambulances were rushed to the scene. The wrecked trains were No. 311, in-bound to New York, and No. 308, eastbound from New York to White-stone. The in-bound train was several minutes late and was traveling at high speed when the collision came. The Whitestone train had just passed the station and rounding a curve, the New York train could be seen rushing on not more than a block away. There was no chance for either motorman to bring his train to a stop and they crashed together. When ambulances reached the scene the injured had been dragged from the wreckage by other passengers. The motormen of the trains were crushed to death in the little compartment provided for them at the front of the front cars.

SUPERINTENDENT SHOOTS

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Benjamin Benedict, superintendent of the Wild Rose Stock farm near Geneva, Ill., the property of Herbert T. Crane, son of the late R. T. Crane, was today formally charged with the attempted murder of an unidentified foreigner, believed to be dying in the Geneva hospital. Benedict fired a shotgun at a party of foreigners, who, he says, refused to obey his orders to quit picking grapes on the farm, and attacked him. Benedict ordered the wounded man removed to the hospital and then surrendered to the Geneva constable.

TAFT AND MAYOR LEAD BEARERS

Carried to Grave

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—While former President Taft and Mayor Adolph Kline led the honorary pallbearers on each side of his catafalque, and 500,000 citizens, bare-headed and silent, lined lower Broadway and its adjacent streets, the city today did honor to its late mayor, William Jay Gaynor.

Thousands Stand Uncovered.
Thousands on thousands of persons stood uncovered before the city hall today when at 10:39 the funeral procession started, and in the plaza 250 police, massed in a solid body, stood at salute as the remains of the mayor who at all times stood firm for them were borne out of the building where he had been the chief. Borne by five firemen and five police, the coffin was covered by the mayor's flag, the stars and stripes, and on it lay floral tokens sent by his widow and children. These were the only flowers the casket bore.

Turning into Broadway the cortege passed southward down the great artery of the metropolis through solid ranks of humanity while high in the air the giant Woolworth building and other skyscrapers showed every window black with heads. The roofs of the postoffice building and the other lower structures in the vicinity were jammed to the copings.

Police Line Curb.
All the way down Broadway until Trinity church was reached, the police lined both curbs, shoulder to shoulder, while 1,900 of their fellows, thirty platoons, marched in the parade. The church was reached at 11:07 o'clock.

The pealing of the bells of St. Paul's church breaking in on the stillness was too much for Police Commissioner Waldo, who had been stiffly supported for months by the dead mayor, despite all attacks and who reckoned Gaynor one of his dearest friends. Marching behind former President Taft, Waldo with difficulty restrained his emotion, but when the chimes sounded, two big tears rolled down his cheeks and he sobbed openly.

STUDENTS STRIKE

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Headed by a blaring band and tooting all the horns they could buy 1,500 students in two high schools here, stirred up the city when they struck today for shorter hours, better food in school lunch rooms and to prevent the abolition of frats. Police were called to stop the parade.

TROUBLE IMMINENT IN COPPER STRIKE

Operators Refuse Govern-

LEADERS URGE THE TO RESIST

junction and Clash with Possible Disastrous Results Is Expected

CALUMET, Mich., Sept. 22.—It seemed certain today there will be trouble, probably serious clashes, because of the injunction secured Saturday night by the mine operators against the Federation of Miners and refusal of the operators to accept the department of labor's plan for a settlement of the strike. Speakers at the meetings of the federation in Red Jacket Sunday afternoon urged the members of the federation to give no heed to the injunction which restrains the strikers from picketing, molesting men going to or from work and from parading in the vicinity of any of the mines.

Federation officials today renewed their preparations to carry the strike through. Just what action they will take in regard to the injunction they are not prepared to state, but the federation leaders will meet tomorrow. President Meyer has gone to Chicago to confer with Attorney Clarence Darrow. The federation people declare the injunction futile.

Soldiers Suffer in Blizzard
John A. Moffitt, department of labor representative, who failed in his mission to mediate the strike, returned to Washington Sunday. He refused to discuss the attitude of the companies in refusing arbitration and mediation.

Because of the blizzard which swept the district Saturday night and Sunday the soldiers spent a miserable 24 hours. At Calumet they were forced to seek shelter in the armory and in warehouses of the mining companies, their tents being flattened by the storm. The cold was extreme. The storm practically tied up all telegraph and telephone lines and Sunday night there was but one uncertain wire leading out of the district.

Moyer Meets Darrow
CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—President Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners was in Chicago early Sunday and held a lengthy conference with Clarence Darrow, leaving immediately for Washington.

Darrow admitted today that he conferred with Moyer, but would not disclose what was said at the conference. However, it was understood in labor circles here that Moyer is in Washington to demand a federal investigation of the Calumet strike.

Strike on at Trinidad
TRINIDAD, Col., Sept. 22.—There will be a complete tie-up of coal mines all over Colorado tomorrow, was the statement made by International Vice President Hayes of the United Miners, today on his arrival to take charge of the walk-out ordered by the union. The operatives have made no move towards granting the demands of the miners and both sides are preparing for war, which is expected to begin tomorrow.

STRIP PRIEST IN CHURCH

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 22.—The Rev. Anthony M. Haley, pastor of the Greek Catholic congregation of St. Mary, who was attacked and stripped of his vestments during a clash of warring factions in the church yesterday, was in jail here today. Mrs. George Berger, who says the priest bit off the end of her thumb, her husband, and George Sinitz faced possible imprisonment on charges of disorderly conduct.

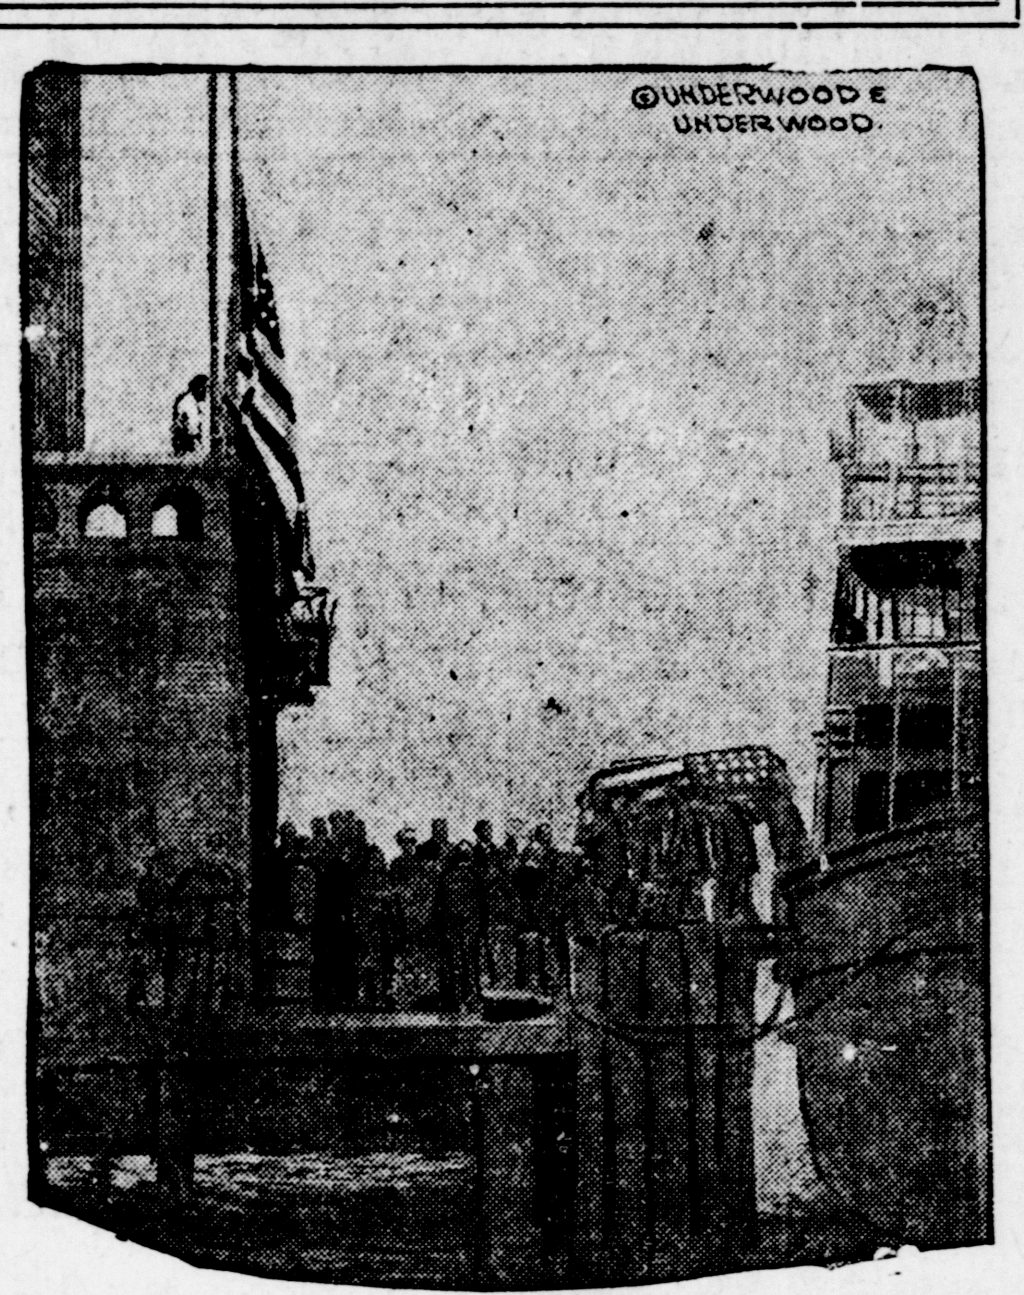

FIVE FISHERMEN LOST

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Motorboats were sent over the lake today to search for a gasoline launch containing five fishermen, missing since yesterday afternoon and thought to have been drowned. In the party were William Wainwright, William T. Rupe and Frank, Joseph and Thomas Rupke. After waiting until daylight for the men to return home, Mrs. Wainwright reported their disappearance to the police.

DAMAGE SUITS FOLLOW WRECK

Several damage suits, growing out of injuries sustained in the Burlington wreck at Trempealeau last Thursday, have been filed against the road. One was settled today out of court, indicating that the road feels itself responsible for injuries sustained by the passengers on the ill-fated Oriental Limited. John Kobelich, Chicago, was handed $100 in settlement of his claim against the road. Ernest Reed, Pittsburg, Pa., today filed suit for $5,000 for damages, and local lawyers assert that several other suits will be made public within the next few days.

Only Praise Heard For Dead New York Mayor As Last Sad Rites Are Held

Body of the late Mayor Gaynor arriving at the Battery, New York.

No word of criticism was heard, even from his bitterest foes in life, as the last rites were held over the body of the late Mayor Gaynor of New York. All agreed that he had been honest and upright and steadfast of purpose. "He was one of the best mayors New York ever had," now seems to be the general opinion.

WOULD ORGANIZE SUNDAY SCHOOLS

John L. Alexander of New

Class Be Made a Separate Society

SPENDS BUSY DAY IN THE CITY

Addresses Three Meetings
Meetings Yesterday and Is Scheduled for Three
Today

Advocating a regular organization of Sunday school classes as the tool with which to build up civic spirit and Sunday school success, John L. Alexander, New York City, yesterday put in an extremely busy day, delivering addresses to Sunday school workers of this city, enlisting them in the new movement. Mr. Alexander spoke to three successful meetings yesterday afternoon and evening.

Addresses Boy Scouts
In the afternoon he spoke at the Congregational church on "The Greatest Educational Institution in the World." At four in the afternoon he addressed fifty local boy scouts and scoutmasters in the Y. M. C. A. His address at the Y. M. C. A. was well attended and well received because of Mr. Alexander's former position as national leader of the Boy Scout movement in America.

In the evening Mr. Alexander spoke at the Caledonia Street Methodist church on "The National Scope of the Sunday School," following which he gave an address at the Congregational church. In all his addresses, Mr. Alexander advocated the practical organization of each Sunday school class, whether of boys or of girls. He urged that each be formed into a separate society, with a president, secretary, committees, etc. To the success of the organized bible class Mr. Alexander lays the present usefulness and success of the Sunday school.

GUEST AT LUNCHEON

Today at noon Mr. Alexander was entertained at a luncheon by 100 business men of the city. The luncheon was given in the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Alexander was scheduled to be the main speaker of the occasion. At 3 o'clock he addressed a conference of Sunday school workers of all denominations in the Methodist church, corner of Eighth and King streets. At the noon-day luncheon today, Mr. Alexander delivered an address on "The Teen Age as a National Asset."

This evening at the Methodist church he will give his famous lecture on "The Giants and Fairies of Religious Education." The lecture is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

WEDDED AFTER LONG PURSUIT

He Followed Her to Europe
Before She Accepted
but She Lived with Him One Week

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Charging that she had been unduly intimate with her Spanish dancing partner, and with other men, whose names he does not know, Frederick W. von Frantzius, wealthy Chicago broker who pursued "Saharet," the vaudeville dancer, through several countries until she married him, today filed suit for divorce.

Sheriffs on Trail

Von Frantzius' bill for divorce, filed early today, after a Sunday full of exciting incidents, signalled a victory for art over love. "Saharet" according to the broker, promised to abandon her stage career upon her return from a European tour and snuggle close to him in a Chicago residence he fitted for her at a lavish expense. Now, he says, she positively refuses.

According to the broker's bill of complaint, the couple lived together for exactly one week after their marriage when "Saharet" returned to London for a visit with her relatives and another continental tour. "She will quit the stage and come back to Chicago to live," the broker told his friends when he returned from New York. "She wants one more fling at art."

Avoided Husband

Two weeks ago the dancing girl arrived in Chicago, accompanied by one Jose Florido, a Spanish dancer, who is named in Von Frantzius' bill of complaint. She did not visit the home he had fitted out for her. She rested at commodious quarters in a Loop hotel.

by Frey

TO ASSUME DUTIES OCTOBER 1

Local Man Severs Connection with Road Owing to Ill Health and Private business

Henry G. Casslin, master mechanic for the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy at Beardstown, Ill., has been named by road officials for the position of master mechanic at La Crosse, vacated by the recent resignation of Nathaniel Frey. Mr. Frey's successor is well known among Burlington men on this and other divisions and the announcement of his choice as Frey's successor meets with general approval both among the local officials and the employees of the Burlington. It is understood that Mr. Casslin will assume his duties here on October 1, that being the date set by Mr. Frey for his resignation becoming effective.

Frey to Leave City

Mr. Frey, who has been connected with the Burlington for many years, was prompted to resign by ill health and private business interests which needed his personal attention. Mr. and Mrs. Frey will leave La Crosse on October 15 and will make their home at De Soto, Wis., where Mr. Frey, who has large land holdings there, will enter the stock raising business. Both Mr. and Mrs. Frey have hosts of friends in La Crosse, who regret their leaving but are a unit in wishing them immeasurable success in their new home.

HWO BEATEN TO DEATH

BENTON, Ill., Sept. 22.—A sheriff's posse is today hunting for the men who last night beat Quincy Drummonds and Ewell Hutchins to death and fatally injured Harman Wyant. The three boys had been playing for a dance and were attacked on their way home. They were found by an automobile party. Three suspects have been arrested.

TO FLY MEDITERRANEAN

PARIS, Sept. 22.—Aviator Farros this afternoon completed his preparations for his attempted flight across the Mediterranean, which he expects to make tomorrow. He has refused to station government torpedo boats at intervals along his proposed course.

YEGGS MAKE HAUL

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Yeggmen early today wrecked two safes in the store of John Procos, fruit dealer, 226 North Dearborn, and escaped with $589 in cash and checks for $1,096.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

HIS PLAIN STENOGRAPHER

By ELLA RANDALL PEARCE

(Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"I can get you into a good job, sis," announced young Barclay; "but you'll have to get yourself up to look like a frump."

He tossed his hat unerringly to its peg, and sat down at the table, enjoying the glances of astonishment that assailed him from both sides. Mrs. Barclay indulgently shook her head, but her daughter spoke with animation.

"Now, Floyd Barclay, just explain yourself! Is my beauty of such a demoralizing nature that I must disguise myself before invading the industrial world?"

"Sure thing—this particular corner of it. Mr. Knowles won't have a good looker on his place. Mr. Milton Knowles—office in our building—head of a transportation syndicate. He's a crank, but he needs a stenographer; and you need a job."

"Don't I know?" sighed Evie, recalling several recent disappointing experiences. "But I'm sure I'm not a startling vision as I am."

"Nothing doing!" said her brother positively. "Crank Knowles is rabid on the subject of the modern young woman—hates 'em all. Says a pretty girl's a fool; and nothing but an educated scarecrow can come into his office—or words to that effect."

"Mother, I think I'll do it!" declared Evie, excitedly, an hour later. "I've been thinking. I know what Floyd means—and I do want the work. I needn't look like a frump; just plain, you know."

"Just plain?" Evie Barclay walked into the office of Mr. Milton Knowles on the morrow, and walked out again—engaged. She met Floyd on her way through the lower corridor; he passed without a recognizing glance, and he went on. What a laugh at him she would have later!

She was of a type that needs fluffy, feminine accessories; and she had put on a dark cloth gown, shorn of all its frills. A high, straight linen collar encircled her throat, secured by an old-fashioned black bow. Her hair, naturally wavy, was brushed down over her ears in the most unbecoming coiffure possible, and twisted into an uncompromising knot at the back. She wore a round hat that belonged to her mother, and a pair of spectacles.

Thus, with several years added to her appearance, and a serious mien, she was plainness personified.

"Mother," she cried, as she entered her home. "I've got the position; but there's no danger of my friends making any comment. Why, my own brother didn't know me! Of course, after I've proven my worth, Mr. Knowles can't object if I put up my hair or leave off my glasses. I shall be careful to keep up the role of a plain stenographer."

Miss Evie Barclay was an intelligent clerk, and in a short time had become a helpful assistant to her busy employer. Neither old nor a crank did he seem to the young girl whose mind had always been appreciative of mental power and ambitious accomplishment. Mr. Milton Knowles was forceful, capable, and well poised. She admired his stern dignity, his authoritative manner, his crisp, certain delivery. As she sat taking his sharp, dark profile sometimes, and wonder how it would seem to find his deep-set eyes fixed attentively upon her. He always seemed to be looking at her impersonally.

Evie felt like smiling suddenly at him; and then she knew she would never dare to do so. She did not even dare assume her natural appearance. Once while dressing, she had pushed back her hair and turned down her collar; but her frivolous aspect sent her into a panic.

After awhile, Evie began to feel resentful. Working side by side with a man whom she admired; a man to whom she would have chosen to appear at her best, it was rather trying for the young woman to know that she could not possibly seem less attractive.

"I would drop it all, if it were just a matter of losing my position," thought Evie, passionately, one day. "But what would he think of me? It would end our friendship forever!"

So Evie moved about the office, industrious and prim; alert and appearance while she was inwardly raging.

One warm day, when she had dressed in white linen, and the heat had moved her to thrust back her flat, low drawn side locks, she caught her employer looking at her with contracted eye-brows, frowningly, it seemed.

"Miss Barclay, do you always wear those spectacles?"

"Yes, oh yes; at work," said Evie, with a blush.

"I should think eye-glasses would be handier." He kept looking at her and the blush kept spreading. "Let me see those glasses. They don't look very clear."

"The other kind won't stay on my nose," faltered Evie.

The man looked at the clumsy spectacles critically. "Humph! Poor glass," he commented. "Don't you know you can damage your eyes by wearing improper glasses? Look at me."

Evie reluctantly lifted her eyes, realizing with a thrill of mingled fear and joy that they were her best feature. As her employer gazed into the lovely limpid blue depths she started visibly. What right had a plain

A NEW ONE EVERY DAY

We know the Wisconsin Business University to be all right financially and educationally. This school is owned and managed by Mr. Leigh Toland, and has been for the past six years. Under his direction, the school has had its largest attendance, has enjoyed its greatest prosperity, and has been conspicuously successful in locating its graduates in desirable positions. We employ W. B. U. graduates and have found them competent and efficient. We have done business with the Wisconsin Business University for several years, and as before stated, we know it to be sound educationally and financially.

stenographer to have such radiant orbs—pansy blue, with a dark-rimmed iris and long, curling lashes? The lids drooped demurely, and the girl's mouth dimpled at the corners. "I don't believe you need glasses at all," Mr. Milton Knowles spoke almost indignantly.

"Sometimes I think it may be a habit," murmured Evie. "Perhaps I'd better try to do without them for a while."

"Yes; it's a shame—I mean you ought, to be sure. And, Miss Barclay, I think white is quite appropriate for office wear this hot weather."

The next day Mr. Knowles asked his stenographer how her eyes were feeling, and Evie looked at him frankly, while he replied that they felt self, while she replied that they felt quite strong. A few days later, after dictation, her employer remarked that he thought women were inconsistent in their attire.

"Look at yourself, for instance—a blazing July day, yet you have a collar up to your ears, and your hair over them. You have ears, I suppose?"

"Yes; oh, yes!" Evie's smile came into unguarded play then. Her lips curved mirthfully; her eyes danced; bubbling sounds issued between her suddenly raised fingers. Mr. Knowles regarded her searchingly.

"Laugh if you want to. Are you afraid of me?"

"Not just that, but I—I don't want to seem frivolous."

The man's glance followed her out of his office. He sat a while, frowning and drumming his long fingers upon his desk; then his dark face softened.

"When it improves a woman's looks so much to laugh—why shouldn't she?" he thought.

After that there seemed to be a different understanding between Milton Knowles and his stenographer. When Evie wore a low lace collar and her hair above her ears he said something about her being sensible.

"Do you know, Miss Barclay, you don't look like the same woman that came into the office last March," he said, one day. "I'm not given to making personal remarks; but I can't imagine—women are naturally vain, you know. Do you ever look into your mirror?"

"Sometimes," Evie's smile came freely now. "I'm really quite young, Mr. Knowles. Only twenty-one."

"Indeed!"

"Yes; and I thought it would be better for me to look older and more sedate—in business, you know."

"Oh, that's it." Her employer cleared his throat and looked at her steadily. "You have quite the proper idea, but there's such a thing as carrying it too far. You're a very good clerk, Miss Barclay, if you are young, and—er—passable looking. And I would suggest you fulfill your mission in the world by making the most of your natural gifts. I suppose a home now—"

"Oh, at home—you wouldn't know me!" laughed Evie, mischievously. He leaned nearer and caught at her hands. "May I come and get acquainted?" he asked, in a tone that set all the joy bells ringing in the young girl's heart.

"Gee! ma, is that Evie's boss in the parlor?" inquired Floyd, hoarsely voiced and round-eyed. "She's adored up to beat the band, and he's staring at her as if he'd been struck dumb. Has she lost her job?"

"It looks as if she might—soon," said Mrs. Barclay, sententiously.

ARNOLD IMPEACHED

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 22.—Positive announcement was made today by Attorney Walter H. Bende counsel for Louis A. Arnold, deposed tax commissioner, that the fight of the malfeasance charges against the former commissioner would be carried into Milwaukee courts. At Friday's session of the common council Arnold was impeached, and, after being found guilty, was dismissed from the city service.

Why Jambul should reduce sugar in diabetes is not clear, but it is curative and is little used.

Why Codein, which is large used, reduces sugar in diabetes is known. The opium in it locks the secretions, including the sugar. But it too is not a specific and its patients do not recover.

Fulton's Diabetic Compound, the only one of the three agents who results we have known to be permanent, gets its results by reducing hepatic degeneration, thus enabling the liver to oxidize more sugar and starch and the system to assimilate it.

The patients reporting recovery are, without a single exception, far as we know, on Fulton's Diabetic Compound. We never heard of a case recovering under Jambul or Codein.

In view of these plain facts how can there be a question in the mind of anyone who has diabetes, as to what his treatment should be?

If you have diabetes and are middle age or over you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Diabetic Compound before giving up. All druggists. Druggists supplied by Spence-McCord Drug Co., who sale distributors.

WHO'S AFRAID OF
MRS. PANKHURST

The United States may as well let
Mrs. Pankhurst enter this country.
We doubt if she is an "undesirable alien," and we have the consolation of knowing that, if she should prove a desperate criminal, it costs little to board her in prison.

Mrs. Pankhurst was not born a "militant." She is the product of conditions. One phase of those conditions is the Briton's attitude toward women—an attitude to which ours would be akin should we condemn Mrs. Pankhurst at our door.

Mrs. Pankhurst will not harm American women; American women may do good to Mrs. Pankhurst.

BETTER GOODS
LOWER PRICES

In one of Bradstreet's recent reviews there is a very significant passage on the tariff which has a peculiar interest for New England but which ought to be read and pondered
in every part of the United States.
The references are to the woolen schedule, and it is said that in anticipation of the enactment of the new tariff bill into law "American mills are offering goods far superior in style and finish to anything shown this season from the other side, while the prices are below the level of any possible importations, even under the new rates."

All this, it is declared, is admitted by jobbers, who are sorry because of the unexpected developments that they placed early orders for English goods. It is strange, however, that they should be greatly surprised, since it has long been maintained by tariff reformers that reductions in rates would result both in reduction in prices and an improvement in the quality of domestic goods.

Possibly the report, which seems to prove that the stimulus has already had a most gratifying effect, may be rather rapid in reaching its conclusions, but there are certainly no signs of a panic among the mill owners as yet, and we shall have a very instructive and conclusive demonstration before long as to both prices and quality. As to the former, tailors indicate now that they will be able to make up suits at a considerable percentage below their present charges on account of the tariff changes. The customer will get more for his money, and if he demands imported goods it will be because of their superior quality still, but, naturally, as the price drops the competition in quality must become more pronounced.

That in this particular industry
there has been excessive protection
there can be no doubt, nor can there be any doubt that it has been ill-advised and onerous to the public.
In any fair scheme of revision a reduction of the woolen rates was inevitable, and the indications are that there will be quite protection enough left by the Underwood bill.—Chicago Record-Herald.

PUBLIC ADDS ITS APPRECIATION

The Public, the Chicago paper published by Louis Post before he entered the Wilson official family, has this to say about Senator LaFollette:

"Though Senator LaFollette has steadfastly and persistently fought Big Business, there were those who thought they saw in his course the finger of the demagogue; and they predicted that in spite of his protestations of love of justice, he would be found back in the fold of Privilege when the test came. But he did not sneak away when the roll was called.
He answered up boldly and defied the interests that would have led him as Louisiana's senators were led, but in no one of them has he stood out stronger as a man of principle and conviction than when he voted for the tariff bill. It was not the bill he sought. His amendments had been voted down. Yet he knew this bill, even from his point of view,
was better than the Aldrich bill,
and he voted aye. It is well to know that there are such men in this day of transition from the old order to the new; we shall need them all."

The only one of the great independent journals that has not expressed itself on LaFollette's vote is Collier's. Literature on this subject will not be complete without a word from the "National Weekly."

Express companies claim that they have lost 90 per cent of their business, but the remaining 10 per cent
at the usual rates ought to support them in a moderate amount of luxury.

The big league ball players can't write signed articles for the newspapers any longer, which cuts off a tidy source of income from many obscure newspaper reporters.

There is a scarcity of applicants for the army aeroplane squad, but the automobile division will furnish plenty of opportunity for martyrs on the altar of patriotism.

When a woman can forgive her husband for coming home hilarious at 2 o'clock in the morning love is more of a habit than an emotion.

So long as Uncle Sam allows automobiles sent into Mexico the destruction will go on, firearms or no firearms.

Our French

Mrs. Taft, seated in the saloon of the Rotterdam, spoke French so fluently that a Chicago woman ventured to congratulate her.

"It is a fact," said Mrs. Taft,
"that we Americans, as a rule, either speak no French at all or else we speak it very badly."

"Where did you learn French?" a Parisian asked a New York woman at the Ritz.

"From a native," was the proud answer.

"Ah," said the French woman, "A native of what?"

Bill Murray's Morbid Revenge

Bill Murray, who moves the fast trains for the Union Pacific, sent a request to a theater in Omaha one evening for two seats for the performance of "The Virginian." Ed Kelley, the business manager of the show, refused the seats and made this remark:

"Why should a railroad man be given free seats to a show?"

Three years later Kelley found himself in a miserable "tank" town about 100 miles out of Omaha, and he was confronted by the fact that the only train he could take within the next twenty-four hours was the Overland Limited, which did not stop there. He finally persuaded the agent to wire Bill Murray to stop the Overland for him. In a short while the agent, aghast and thunderstruck, staggered up to Kelley and explained that Murray had ordered the Overland to stop at that town, and to take on no passengers except Mr.
Kelley.

The next morning Kelley went to Murray's office and began to thank him for his great kindness.

"Who are you?" Murray asked.
"I'm Kelley. You stopped the Overland in that tank town for me last evening."

"Well, Kelley," said Murray vin-dictively, "three years ago I sent to you for two seats for a performance of your show. You remarked that you couldn't see why any railroad man should be given seats. I've waited three years to get you, and I've done
it. Now, will you buy a drink?"

Peculiar

Woman is a funny creature:
There is no doubt of that.
Wears a forty-dollar feather
On a twenty-two-cent hat.

And her little freaks of fancy
Are accented much renowned.
She will spend ten cents in car fare
Just to save two cents downtown.

We can never understand her,
For she plays a funny game;
She is fickle and eccentric,
But we like her just the same.

Bluff All Around, Probably
"Can't you keep still, David?"
asked Mr. Mead from behind his evening paper. "What are you doing?"
"Studyin' Latin," came the muffled answer, "an' I'm stuck."
"Show it to me," ordered his father, resignedly. Mr. Mead's Latin was exceedingly rusty and he, knowing this fact, was wont to act with due caution.

David brought his work over and explained where the trouble lay. It seemed that a certain word could not be found in the vocabulary, nor could he guess where the form was derived. The father studied the page for a moment and then said: "Now, David, I don't think I ought to help you. It is a great deal better for you to puzzle things out for yourself. In this case it is merely a question of your knowing your declension and conjugations."

The lad worked till bedtime without success. The next afternoon he came home from school with a look of triumph.

"I've found out the meaning of that word!" he announced.
"Perseverance," began his father.

"The teacher told us it was a misprint!"—Harper's Magazine.

In "Dry Farming" Country

In certain parts of our far west,
where without irrigation the cultivators of the land would be in a bad way indeed, the light rains that during the growing season fall from time to time are appreciated to a degree that is unknown in the east.

Last summer a fruit grower who owns fifty acres of orchards was rejoicing in one of these precipitations of moisture, when his hired man came into the house.

"Why don't you stay in out of the rain?" asked the fruit man.
"I don't mind a little dew like this," said the man. "I can work along just the same."

"Oh, I'm not talking about that," exclaimed the fruit man. "The next time it rains you come into the house. I want that water on the land."—Harper's Magazine.

Walking Was Better

"The president of this road, remarked the man in the corner of the smoking compartment, "is one of those old fashioned railroaders. He began as a brakeman. Instead of riding over the line in a private car to inspect it, he walks over it."

"I don't blame him," declared the man who was making his first trip on the road.

His Bailiwick

A temperance lecturer was enthusiastically denouncing the use of all intoxicants.

"I wish all the beer, all the wine,
all the whisky in the world was at the bottom of the ocean," he said.
Hastily Pat arose to his feet.

"Sure, and so do I, sor," he shouted. "I wish every bit of it was at the bottom of the sea."

As they were leaving the hall the lecturer encountered Pat.

"I certainly am proud of you," he said. "It was a brave thing for you to rise and say what you did. Are you a teetotaler?"

"No, intoder, sor," answered Pat.
"I'm a diver."

Pessimists are usually without personal reasons for being that way.

S. S. S. Drives the Demon of Bad
Blood Back to the Woods.

The under layer of skin is a fine network of tiny blood vessels in which the famous blood remedy, S. S. S., works with remarkable activity. This is why
S. S. S., the best known blood purifier, has such a positive action in the skin.
There is one ingredient in S. S. S. which peculiarly stimulates cellular or glandular activity to select from the blood or from this fine network of blood vessels in the skin, those elements which it requires for regeneration.

Thus, pimples, acne, eczema, lupus, or any other blood condition that attacks the skin or seeks an outlet through the skin, is met with the antidotal effect of S. S. S.

Under the influence of S. S. S. this fine network of blood vessels in the skin is constantly taking from the blood the nutrition required for healthy tissue, and the cause of disease is just as constantly becoming removed, scattered and rendered harmless. These facts are more fully explained in a book on skin troubles sent by The Swiff Specific Co., 131 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores. Get a bottle to-day and banish all skin afflictions.

Under a ruling made by the Federation du Livre, of Lyons, France, in 1906, no wife of a unionist trained as a printer may work at her trade or profession on penalty of the dismissal of her husband from the union. The rule was adopted on the theory that to permit women to enter the trade is to invite lower wages.

Recently the ruling has been the subject of much discussion because a young woman working in accompaniment with the union schedule in Lyons caused her husband to be out-casted from the union when she applied for membership.

A Romance of Extraordinary Distinction

The Marshal

By Mary Raymond Shipman Andrews
Author of The Perfect Tribute, etc.
Copyright, The Bobbs-Merrill Company

He told, what the general partly knew, how many followers of the emperor, including his brother Jerome Bonaparte, had bought tracts of land under that new government, the United States, and how several of them had gone out to this land, taking many things with them and looking to live there as in France in seigneurial dignity. How, through one of the Bonapartist emigres and through his connections in America, Zappi had been offered a chance to buy five thousand acres in the State of Virginia; how he had considered the condition of Italy—that it was torn and worn with wars, that the Austrians were gaining in power, that his house was a marked one on the side of Italian liberty, and sure to be among the first to be punished if Austrian power were triumphant;
that if such a time came it might mean everything to him or to his son to have a home and a domain beyond the reach of the tyrant's hand.
For that reason he had thought it wise to cross the ocean and take possession of this land; and to do this quickly, because the marquis stopped and looked at the general,
and the general looked back fiercely.

"What then?" the latter demanded savagely. "It is well, of course, to do things at once, when one decides But is there any hurry in particular for you, you hardened old veteran?"

The marquis smiled his gentle smile. "A little hurry for me Gaspard," he answered. "The doctors tell me that my heart is not strong;
a man dies suddenly of that trouble sometimes."

And general, impatient, indignant, threw his arm around his friend's shoulder. "They know nothing, doctors," he growled. "You will outlive me. It is all villainy, such talk.
Come, then, Alessandro, and see if Pietro can stick on Coq."

CHAPTER X
For Always

Claire listened with serious calm eyes as her son told his story when he came home on the day of the new arrival at the castle. It was strange to have her boy the playmate of the children of a noble marquis and of the seigneur himself. A pang came with the thought, for it seemed to separate the little lad from her. But the grandmother had said always,
and the mother believed it, that the child would not grow up and live and die placidly in Vieques as his ancestors. There was a wider destiny before him; had not the hand of Napoleon himself laid that destiny on his baby shoulder? So, like plenty of other mothers, Claire put down the selfishness of a longing to keep her own child, and for the child's sake walked a little way with him on the road which was to lead him from her.

"The great gentleman has come who once saved our seigneur's life!" she repeated after Francois. "And the seigneur is glad. Of course he is glad, my Francois. And you ought to be glad, too, and grateful to that gentleman because of all the good things our seigneur has done for you and which would not have happened, assuredly, if Monsieur the Marquis had not saved him. You should do everything that is possible for Monsieur the Marquis to show your gratitude."

Francois looked doubtful and depressed. "But, my mother, I can not do anything for the marquis that I can think of. He would not like me to bring him vegetables, I think.
And Jean Philippe of Pierre, or else
the maids carry water for him; I could not do that as I could for you.
There are so many people to do things that he would not want me."

Claire considered; this was true;
yet she wished her son to feel his part of the obligation to the marquis and to discharge it. "It is true, Francois. Yet there may be something which you can do for him, if it be only to bring him a book gladly.
Moreover, it is this wish which makes one's life happy—doing things for others. Watch and be ready to serve him with a good will when you may because of the thing which he did

COUNTRY CLUB, BROOKLINE,
Mass., Sept. 22—Francis Oumet of Massachusetts won the open golf championship of the United States Saturday in the 18 hole playoff of the triple tie in which the young amateur faced the veterans, Harry Vardon and Edward Ray of England,
the best of the Britishers.

The spectacular performance of the former caddy, who is but 20 years old, against the biggest aggregation of golfers ever gathered in an

A Practically Perfect Preparation.

YEARS of experience have enabled Mr. Fletcher to make Castoria a practically perfect preparation. These years of labor: the amount of money required to introduce its merits to the public: the investment in its manufacture, including the most modern machinery, mean a vast amount of invested capital. It follows that the greatest care is exercised in the selection of each ingredient, and the greatest attention is paid to every detail of its preparation. The result is the practically perfect preparation in the finished product; Fletcher's Castoria.

Herein lies the guarantee of the absolute safety in the use of Fletcher's Castoria for the baby, and the warning against irresponsible makers of imitations and counterfeits. The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher that is printed in black on the wrapper and red on the bottle is the mother's safeguard.

Children Cry For

Fletcher's CASTORIA

Extracts from Letters by Grateful Parents to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Mrs. John W. Derrick, of Lexington, S. C., says: "My children cry for Castoria, I could not do without it."

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gaines, of Ripley, Tenn., say: "We enclose our baby's picture hoping it will induce some poor tired mothers to give your Castoria a trial. We have used it since baby was two weeks old."

Mrs. J. G. Parman, of Nashville, Tenn., says: "The perfect health of my baby is due to your Castoria—the first and only medicine he has taken. He is never satisfied with one dose, he always cries for more."

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Johnson, of Stevens Point, Wis., say: "When our baby was two weeks old he cried so much we did everything for him, then got some Castoria and he is now strong and fat. We would not be without it, and are very thankful to you."

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY

FAIR AT SPARTA WELL ATTENDED

Daily Aeroplane Flights
Draw Many Spectators;
Horse Races Sorely
Missed

SPARTA, Wis., Sept. 22.—The annual fair of the Sparta Driving and Agricultural association occupied the attention of Monroe county last week and was well attended. Mr. Barlow, who is a fine pink and white, red headed young man with a pompadour, clean and wholesome looking and well behaved, had his Curtis aeroplane here and electrified the crowd thrice daily with his masterful navigation of the air. Barlow filled a long felt want in Monroe county. First Sparta at the time of its Fourth of July celebration contracted for an aeroplane, deposited $500 in the bank to guarantee payment for the exhibition. The crowd came to see the aeroplane and telegrams by the dozen were exchanged with the booking agency in search of the aeroplane man, but he did not appear and everyone was disappointed and many, particularly our Tomah neighbors, severely criticized the Fourth of July management and broadly hinted that there never was an aeroplane expected. Then Tomah determined to profit by Sparta's experience and also make good with their advertisement and publicly promised an aeroplane at the Eastern Monroe County fair. It was advertised around the county and everybody went to see it. But again the aeroplane didn't show up and the only aviators on the grounds were the birds.

Secretary W. A. Holden, however, determined that there must be an aeroplane at the Sparta fair and succeeded in getting an ironbound contract with a responsible booking agency so that its presence was assured. And because there was so much skepticism about it, he had the machine arrive Sunday and it was all set up here so everybody could see it the first of the week, waiting for the fair. Also, instead of having the machine surrounded by a tent and charging an admission fee of ten cents to see it at close range, Mr. Holden had it out in the center of the field at the race track where it could be freely inspected by everybody.

The showing in horses at the fair was especially good, the cattle a little light, the hogs very good and the display of vegetables and baking very fine. The ball game Wednesday between Sparta and Norwalk was won by Norwalk in a ten inning game and was a very interesting one. The game between West Salem and Bangor on Tuesday resulted in a score of 4 to 3 in favor of West Salem, although Bangor had West Salem on the to-bogged and going fine. The football game between certain alleged all-stars and the local high school team filled the interval between the first aeroplane flight and the baseball game on Thursday.

The horse races were very sadly missed and undoubtedly appreciated at attendance greatly. In fact, the fair management is said to have been thankful that the aeroplane came for if this great drawing card had not been present, the fair, as one of them expressed it, "would be deadlier than a hammer." Another great source of revenue which is cut off by the abolition of the racing program, is the grand stand admission fee which sometimes amounts to $300 a day. Everyone hopes there will be racing next year.

Readjust Water Rates

The railroad commission has finally made an order in the matter of the application of the Sparta Water Works for authority to increase and readjust its rates. The rates ordered are as follows: Minimum charges: 3/4 inch meter semi-annually, $2.75; 1 inch meter semi-annually, $3.05; 1 1/2 inch meter semi-annually, $4; 2 inch meter semi-annually, $5; 3 inch meter semi-annually, $7; 4 inch meter semi-annually, $12. The old minimum rates were as follows: Minimum rate for 3/4 inch meter, $3 per 6 months; 1 inch meter, $3.50 per 6 months; 1 1/2 inch meter, $5 per 6 months; 2 inch meter, $7 per 6 months. The first 1,500 cubic feet of water is allowed to be consumed under the minimum bill. The order also makes a charge to the city for fire protection in the sum of $4,400 per year and also requires the city to pay for water for street sprinkling eight cents per cubic foot. Altogether the order is very satisfactory to both the city and the water works board.

Agitate Union Depot

The hearing of the union depot matter for the city of Sparta has been set by the railroad commission for Thursday, September 25, and it is hoped by the promoters at that time to deluge the commissioners with evidence and proofs of the great necessity for this depot. Just what objections the railroad companies are making to it, is unknown. It cannot be the matter of expense, since the expense would be nothing. The main tracks of the two roads are so close together on South Water street that there is barely room for a good sized depot and platforms between them and the yards will not need to be altered in any way and the freight depots may remain where they are. There can be no objections that the companies now have good depots because they have not. The Northwestern has been ordered to rebuild and the Milwaukee will be directed to as soon as someone makes an application. This will be done unless a union depot is ordered. The convenience of the union station to travelers will be great. Trains east and west leave at about the same time on either road so if one is late the other is available to the traveler without a half mile ride in a sea going bus. Then there is much transfer work in Sparta. Many travelers from the towns between Elroy and Sparta on the Northwestern change on to the Milwaukee at Sparta and many travelers from the Virgo branch change to the Northwestern at Sparta. With a union station it would be simply a matter of stepping from one train onto the other. Under the present circumstances, particularly in the night, a change is a hazardous undertaking. The sentiment in this city for the union depot seems to be unanimous, except for a property owner or two near the present Milwaukee passenger station.

Briefs of the City

W. H. Joseph of Wilson is employed in the Lord & Lokey barber shop. Miss Grace Reed, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. H. H. Williams, left Tuesday for Milwaukee, where she will resume her work at Milwaukee Downer college.

Miss Elsie Jerrison left Wednesday for a visit with friends and relatives at Portage. From there she will go to Milwaukee, where she will enter a nurses' training school.

Miss Ethel Crowe has returned from a week's visit with friends in Milwaukee.

POISON FATAL TO VETERAN JEWELER

I. H. Singer Expires at His Home on the North Side After Drinking Cyanide of Potassium

AN OLD LA CROSSE RESIDENT

Has Occupied Stores at Various Locations for Well Over a Quarter of a Century

Ignatius H. Singer, jeweler, a resident of La Crosse and the north side for many years, committed suicide Sunday, according to the coroner and the police, by drinking half a cup of cyanide of potassium, an acid used by the veteran watchmaker in cleaning gold.

Death followed shortly after he drank the fluid from a tin cup at his home, 1441 Caledonia street, and efforts of County Physician R. E. Flynn were futile. The poison potion, says Dr. Flynn, was large enough to have killed several men.

The family version of the death is that Mr. Singer, who has been suffering from severe nervous disorders for some time, by mistake drank the poison for medicine he had been taking.

Born in Germany
Mr. Singer was born at Cologne, Germany, July 18, 1857.

After visiting the larger cities of Europe as a journeyman watchmaker, he located in Illinois with the Elgin watch factory. After a short time there he came to La Crosse, working for Patz, the jeweler of thirty years ago on Main street.

He then went in business for himself in North La Crosse, where he has been for the past twenty-eight years, located respectively at 713 Rose, 819 Rose, 532 Mill, 1203 Caledonia and 1441 Caledonia.

He was an active member of the old volunteer fire department and was interested in the old "Voice of the People." He was for a time master workman of the A. O. U. W. He was a member of the W. W. and F. R. A.

Those who mourn his death are his wife, two sons, Herman and Edwin and seven daughters, Lena, Dawson, Prisca, Seattle, Wash., Ella, Susan, Elizabeth, Catherine and Mary. Also a brother, August Singer, teacher in Germany. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

NORTH LA CROSSE AMATEUR CHAMPS

The North La Crosse baseball team defeated the Park Store team yesterday afternoon on the Copeland park grounds by a score of 12 to 0. In defeating the Park Store team the North La Crosse team has won the championship in the amateur league. The Park Store boys made only one hit. Score: R H E
Park Store 0 1 6
North La Crosse 12 10 1
Batteries: Roof and Garder; Smevog and Johnson.

Servant Girl Educator.

The truth is, we never think of education in connection with babyhood, the term being in our minds inextricably confused with schoolhouses and books. When we do honestly admit the plain fact that a child is being educated in every waking hour by the condition in which he is placed and the persons who are with him, we shall be ready to see the need of a higher class of educators than servant girls.—Concerning Children.

Sugar.

Almost all the sugar in the world comes from two sources—the sugar cane and the sugar beet. There is also maple sugar, sugar made from the sap of date palms and from dried fruits. But the sugar we use in huge quantities, the loaf sugar, the granulated and the powdered, comes from the cane or the beet. Fifty years ago sugar was more or less of a luxury. Today it is a necessity.

Pretty Good Motto.

"I knew a man," said a live-wire young minister, "who attributed much of his worldly success to a rule he made for himself. He saw how much time and how many opportunities went wrong, and how much money was wasted by indecisionists, as he called them. So he adopted for one of his mottoes: 'Guess quick and stick to it.'"

Byron's Freak Manner of Living.

While Byron was in Ravenna, Italy, he adopted strange habits. It was his custom to rise at two in the afternoon, breakfast and ride, and dine at six. Then he would sit or talk until five or six in the morning. Or, if no company were there, he would write a bit of "Don Juan." But his life was like that of Aubrey Beardsley—upside down—the day was the night.

Play Best Exercise.

The best kind of exercise is that kind that makes you forget that you are exercising—in other words play says a physician. It's a good scheme to have some more or less strenuous game for a hobby—golf or bowling or tennis or archery—anything that appeals to you and affords exercise with interest. But this is not saying that systematic exercise is not a good thing, too.

Ghosts as Dreams.

The probability that we get snatches of sleep at odd moments when we suppose ourselves to be remaining continuously awake is supported by the phenomena of dream Mark Twain accounted for his "disappearing visitor" by the belief that he had unconsciously had a short nap; and many have explained visions of ghosts as due to dream during such short naps.

Plants Use Poison as Protection

Many plants use poison as a means of protection. The sun spurge has poisonous juice which kills any insects which approach it, while the poisonous properties of the dead nightshade are well known. I bracken fern has such a bitter taste that cows and sheep feeding near will not touch it, and the leaves the buttercup have a bitter taste which is much disliked by plant-eating animals.

Giving Them Warning.

At the annual picnic of a Manchester firm one of the packers was called upon after dinner to propose the toast to the firm. GIVE PLEASING SHOW
POPULAR VAN DYKE AND EATON STOCK COMPANY OPENS FOR TEN WEEKS AT THE LA CROSSE THEATER
After an absence of five years the ever popular "Van Dyke & Eaton" Stock Co. opened to two capacity audiences Saturday and Sunday. The play and company were received enthusiastically and vaudeville between the acts was thoroughly appreciated. Everybody was pleased.
"Paid in Full" was the play. It is really a treat to see so good a play handled by so capable a company or actors as those who presented it. The principal parts were in the hands of Miss Lorena Tolson, Willard Foster, Cliff Hastings and Jast Fontaine and all deserve a great deal of praise for the finished performance they gave of their difficult parts. Miss Eunice Elliott, Miss Helen DeLaude and Mr. Harry Vickery also deserve praise for clever work.
Willard Foster in illustrated songs is a clever "chap" and makes the audience sing to "beat the band." "Paid in Full" will continue until Wednesday night. Starting Thursday afternoon "Why Lindy Ran Away" will be the bill for the last half of the week.
The matinees on Thursday, Saturday, Sunday and Tuesday affords ladies and children an opportunity to see the same performance for 10c as those given at night. Free presents will be given all those attending the performance tonight.

Louis Brothers, State Road Coulee, sold a wagon load of oats at the market Saturday.
Henry Koethe, Brownsville road, returned to his home Saturday morning after bringing a load of hay to the city which was disposed of at the market.

FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR SICK CHILD
"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels
Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without irritating.
When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomachache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given.
Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

MILWAUKEE BACK IN LEAD AGAIN
COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 22.—While Minneapolis was losing two games to Indianapolis on Sunday, Milwaukee split even in a double header with Columbus and went into first place in the American association race by the narrow margin of one point.
And the hero of the battle that put the Clarksons on the top once more was Cyril Slapnicka of Rockford, Chicago and Milwaukee.
Columbus won the first game, 4 to 2, and Milwaukee snatched the second, an affair of six thrilling innings by a 3 to 1 count.

FINDS BODY IS THAT OF BROTHER
MAIDEN ROCK, Wis., Sept. 22.—Harry Larson, an undertaker of Pueblo, Colo., while getting ready to meet his brother, Edgar, a resident near this town, who was on his way to visit at Pueblo, received a call to take care of a body of a man that had been killed by a train. Hastening to the scene of the tragedy, Larson found his brother was the victim.

DAN ROBY A HIT AS DARKY PIPER
Local Man in Scotch Black-face Act Features Majestic Vaudeville
Dan Roby, from La Crosse and West Salem, features the exceptionally good four act vaudeville bill which started at the Majestic yesterday afternoon, for the first half of the week. Roby is from West Salem and is well known here. He is one of the best known vaudeville "stars" on the big circuits. Roby brings out a new one this season with his Scotch black face stunt. He utterly fails to hide his own familiar face under a thick coat of burnt cork. And he's some bag pipe artist. He's the "man who made a noise like a bag pipe" that's his reputation—and judging by the way he was received by the large houses at the first and second shows he honestly earned the name.
Tim McMahon in "Ned 'Cork' Norton and his Pullman Porter Maids" give the audience twenty minutes of fun in a union station. A dozen pretty girl porters that can sing, entertain with numerous popular selections and "Cork" fires out a line of original jokes. The act carries with it special scenery representing trains that move and are brilliantly lighted.
Mizie Admont, singing comedienne in a number of songs and vocal imitations, brought generous applause of a large house. An imitation of a violin and a song in which the Swiss yodel had a prominent part, were especially well received.
The Walton Brothers, comedy gymnasts wind up a good show with something new in trapeze work. For feats of ability and strength these two couldn't be bettered. Their act is short and snappy.

MADISON COUNCIL LISTENS TO PUBLIC
MADISON, Wis., Sept. 22.—Answering the demands of an outraged public, it is expected that at the next meeting of the city council $100 will be added to the appropriation of $300 annually to Dr. J. Y. Quinn, head of the Dane County Humane society. When Dr. Quinn announced his intention of deserting his job unless he was given this extra $100 a year from the city, many of the men and women organizations of the city got behind him in his fight. Although a number of prominent citizens have offered to raise the amount for him, Dr. Quinn insists that it must come from the county.

PEAIRIE DU CHIEN
The sudden death of Mr. Frank Smrcina, which occurred Thursday evening last, was a great shock to his family and large circle of friends. Mr. Smrcina was in his usual state of health and was out looking at some stock on the home premises when stricken with paralysis and his death was instantaneous.
Mr. Smrcina was a native of Bohemia but had been for years a prominent business man and large property holder in this city. He was one of the first men to become interested in the canning industry here. He leaves his wife and four sons, V. M. Smrcina, George and Leo of this city and John of Janesville. His funeral was held Sunday afternoon from the family home in the Third ward under the auspices of the C. S. P. S. order. District Attorney M. R. Nemo HYGIENIC FASHION BULLETIN No. 2
NEMO Preserves Your Figure Guards Your Health
DEAR MADAM:
The corset that "tires you out" is not necessarily a heavy corset. No corset that is well balanced and fits your figure ever feels heavy.
Nemo No. 506 is a good example of a perfect-fitting corset. Note how this corset shapes itself to the figure. That's a strong feature of every Nemo—scientific designing; which means splendid style with supreme comfort, and a healthful, hygienic garment. In other words, the famous NEMO SERVICE.
Four deep skirt-gores of semi-elastic Lastikops Cloth (two on each side), and the In-Curve Back of Lastikops Webbing, make this a wonderful figure-controlling corset. No. 506 has low bust; No. 508 is the same model, with medium bust—$5.00.
For stout figures? Yes, but worn also by thousands of women who are only plump, or even slender; there's a big demand for sizes 20 and 21.
Pay no attention when anybody tells you that the Nemo is "only for fat women." Insist on your right to enjoy Nemo style and comfort.

The Nemo Lasticurve-Back is the Great Corset Sensation of 1913
The Nemo Lasticurve-Back consists of deep gores of semi-elastic Lastikops Cloth that extend far below the back steels and are laced down to the end. Here's what it does for you: (1) Gives you a very long corset that lets you sit down in perfect ease. (2) Gives you an "incurve" that keeps corset-edge from showing through your gown. (3) Gives you straight lines and smooth rounded back. (4) Keeps the corset from pushing up. (5) Gives you hygienic freedom from all undue pressure or "binding" at any point.
Used in several new Nemo models, of which these are among the most popular:
No. 322—Self-Reducing Corset, extra-long skirt with new Lasticurve-Back; low bust; also, No. 324, same model with medium bust; sizes 20 to 36$3.00
Nemo Corsets are sold by leading stores in every country where corsets are worn. Most dealers will show them to you gladly; others, for some reason, may do so only when you insist.
BE A WISE WOMAN INSIST ON THE NEMO, AND BE SURE YOU GET THE GENUINE!

SAVE TWO BOYS FROM LAKE GALE
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 22.—Two Jones island boys were saved from death during Saturday afternoon's storm on the lake by the life-saving crew.
Herbert Braeger, 14 years old, and Joseph Lent, 15 years old, the near victims, had taken a small skiff into the lake on a fishing trip and were about a mile from the harbor entrance when the gale arose.
In a short time the little skiff was half filled with water and the boys signaled frantically for help. The lookout on the station roof saw the signals and after a hard battle with the waves the crew succeeded in reaching the skiff and rescuing the boys, who were exhausted from their experience.

STUDENTS REGISTER AT THE UNIVERSITY

Early Enrollment Is Indicative of a Large Attendance This Year

CHANGE ENGINEERING COURSES

Re-arranged to Permit Students to Specialize in Field of Their Choice

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 22.—The school year at the University of Wisconsin officially opened today with registration of students. Although the early enrollment is indicative of a large attendance, prognostications of an increase must await the records of courses opened later in the year. For many years the enrollment has shown steady gains.

The most important changes this year will be found in the engineering college, where efforts have been directed toward greater elasticity in the courses, giving students more liberty of selection. These changes will permit students to concentrate more intensely on some special field, or omit specialized courses and give more attention to broadening subjects that they elect in the college of letters. In the past, engineering courses have been rigid in their prescribed studies. This change is the result of the new attitude that the engineer must be a broadly cultured man in order to succeed.

A new course in public health inaugurated by the college of medicine has excited a wide interest. These studies are primarily for practicing physicians desiring to familiarize themselves with the social side of medicine and prepare for service as public officials. Student health will give more room for the health records of students. The medical department will also add to its equipment.

The college of agriculture in anticipating a record breaking attendance. Several new buildings are under construction. Extensive improvements costing $5,000 are being made on the hog barns. A new demonstration silo is also being built.

BR-R! OVERCOAT MARKET BULLISH

Grand Rush for Heavy Clothing When Mercury Drops Thirty-three Degrees

"What's the matter with the heat?" "Mother, where is my overcoat?" "This ought to be good duck weather."

These were a few of the thoughts of the residents of La Crosse yesterday and this morning when the thermometer sank thirty-three notches below the comfortable place between the bottom and the top. But the cold spell of the past three days, according to many, is a blessing in disguise. It has made the clothing man sit up and take notice, also the man with the gun, and has obliterated the fret caused by the prolonged, hot spell, and has put just the right edge on things for the fair festivities tomorrow. The good old weather man has promised to make it slightly warmer before tomorrow.

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 22.—Snow fell in northern Minnesota and along the shores of Lake Superior early today, setting a new record for an early snowfall. The earliest previous snowfall recorded since the establishment of a weather bureau here was on September 24, 1907. At Grand Marais, Minn., the ground was covered with snow and the temperature dropped to freezing.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 22.—Frost warnings were sent broadcast over the state today by the Milwaukee weather bureau.

No Matter Who. A party of women were being escorted through the statehouse by a bowing and scraping guide. The women were of the enthusiastic type and raved over this and that and said, "Oh, simply too gorgeous." Finally they were shown the portrait of a former governor. "Oh! superb, isn't it?" said one of them, and "an excellent likeness, too. A portrait of whom did you say it was?"

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Thickness and Lustre at Once

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. For sale and recommended by O. T. Erhart.

NAME COMMITTEES FOR STATE MEET

E. S. Hebbard of the Associated Charities Makes a List of Appointments Public This Morning

Official announcement was made today of the committee of the local Associated Charities to have charge of the conference of Charities and Corrections to be held in La Crosse this fall.

E. S. Hebbard, president of the La Crosse Associated Charities, will be chairman of the committee. Other members will be Mrs. George P. Bradish, Mrs. Alonzo Chubb, Dr. Edward E. Evans and Judge John Brindley.

The executive committee of the association for the coming year was this morning announced by Mr. Hebbard as follows:

E. S. Hebbard, chairman; Rev. G. R. Longbrake, T. H. Spence. The committee to nominate officers at the annual meeting October 1 consists of Messrs. James Thompson, F. W. Sisson and Dr. J. L. Callahan.

Miss Catherine Lee, who has been connected with the Associated Charities for some time, today announced her acceptance of the assistant general secretaryship here. Miss Lee will begin her work in October.

FEAR AN ATTEMPT TO KILL HIMSELF

Close Guard Set on Hans Schmidt in New York to Prevent Him Taking His Own Life

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—A special guard was today placed at the Tombs to see that Hans Schmidt, the priest-murderer of Anna Aumuller, does not make an attempt on his own life. Veiled threats of Schmidt to commit suicide and the advice from Germany that other members of his family have taken their lives within five years, led the authorities to take this action. Schmidt has not been allowed to have a razor, and as he will not permit the prison barber to shave him, he has a week's growth of beard on his face.

Coroner Feinberg was proceeding today with his plans to summon a millionaire jury to hear the case against Schmidt.

BATTLE TO 0 TO 0 TIE

NORMAL AND WINONA HIGH CLASH AND GAME IS SCORELESS THROUGH RAGGED PLAYING

Ideal football weather arrived Saturday afternoon just in time to put a tinge on things and a fair sized crowd witnessed the first game of the season when the Normal and Winona high teams mixed it at League park. The boys were not quite in form and a ragged game followed, neither team scoring.

Fast going was out of the question with the muddy grounds, and the Normal eleven made frequent fumbles. In the third quarter of the game Evans fought the ball to the one yard line and had a goal all but marked up when a fumble occurred. Stirmman and Byers did the punting. Poor field generalship lost for both elevens.

Grausnick and Stirmman did the most brilliant playing for the visitors. The latter made several good gains off tackle.

ESCH BILL GETS COMMITTEE O. K.

Local Man's Measure Authorizing Wilson to Name Purity Congress Delegates Approved

CONVENTION IS AT MINNEAPOLIS

November 7 to 12 Date for International Meet of World's Purity Federation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The house foreign affairs committee favorably reported the Esch bill authorizing President Wilson to appoint delegates to the seventh international congress of the World's Purity Federation, at Minneapolis, from November 7 to 12.

B. S. Steadwell, Ninth and Vine streets, La Crosse, is president of the World's Purity Federation. The federation's official organ, "The Light," is published in La Crosse, edited by Mr. Steadwell.

The federation is an organization formed by leading social workers all over this country and Europe. It was formed about seven years ago for the purpose of fighting the white slave traffic through improving the morality of the race. The single standard of virtue for men and women is one of the cardinal tenets of the beliefs of the federation.

The convention at Minneapolis will bring together several hundred delegates, including many noted men and women. Speakers of international fame are on the program.

Police Chief Gets $219 that Clever Woman Forger Extracted from Six La Crosse Merchants

Several kinds of blue ribbons are due Police Chief John Webber for his ability as a restorer of stolen property.

Today the "chief" received from Des Moines, Iowa, a check for $219, representing the amount of money extracted by a clever woman forger from six La Crosse drygoods merchants.

The woman, with a man, giving the names of Mr. and Mrs. William Powers, were nabbed at Des Moines following successful operations in several Wisconsin, Indiana, Iowa and Minnesota cities.

Immediately upon receipt of the news here Chief Webber got into communication with the Iowa authorities. The result was the receipt this morning of a check covering the losses here.

The firms here who were "worked" were the Scott-Rose company, the Doerflinger company, Burrows Co., and Sturam & Hulberg. The checks passed here for $36.50 each.

Explanation of Potlatch.

The word potlatch is a corruption of an Indian word common among the Pacific coast tribes, meaning festival of gifts. At a potlatch (potlatch) celebration the more personal property an Indian gives away, blankets, ornaments, etc., the higher he stands in the estimation of his neighbors, and the more he expects to receive in return at the next potlatch. The festival is also accompanied by music, dancing and feasting.

WOULD SIGN DUTY BILL BY THURSDAY

President Wilson Expects Settlement of Conference Differences This Week

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—President Wilson hopes to sign the tariff bill not later than Thursday. This fact was made public today following a conference between the president and Senators Simmons and Hoke Smith of the finance committee. The house and senate conferees have practically settled all the controversial points in the bill and there remain only certain administrative features, the income tax and the Clark amendment taxing cotton futures, to be agreed upon.

Majority Leader Underwood told the house this afternoon that a report from the conferees by Thursday was only a "possibility" and not a "probability." He intimated that the matter might have to go over until next week.

The democratic tariff conferees went at their job today with renewed vim, hoping to have a report ready for the two houses by Wednesday. Representative Underwood said that a serious deficit would be found.

Running into a spread rail as made the turn near the machine shops in the north side yards, a 10:45 this morning, engine No. 659 pulling Milwaukee fast mail train No. 56, jumped the track, pulling a tender and the head mail coach into it and plowing up the ground a distance of several feet.

Local officials are of the opinion that a shrinkage of the rail caused by the cold weather of the past few days caused the rail to pull away from the tie spikes. Engineer Dunn and Fireman Peterson were in charge of the engine.

No. 56 arrived at the north side station a few minutes late and after changing crews and engine started for the south side depot. The train was running but slowly as it left the track and no one was injured.

Slight delay was encountered in getting No. 56 to the south side, leaving mail for the west and returning back to the north side. The train was then run over the Southern Minnesota tracks to La Crosse and was there sent on her way.

Traffic will be blocked on the Milwaukee to the south side station for the greater part of the day, according to north side officials, although the wrecker was at work clearing the track at once.

SAGE KEPT NO BOOKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Revelation of the fact that Russell Sage, though he left $64,629,137, kept no books to carry on his enormous transactions and knew little of the details of his own wealth, interested Wall street here today.

The knowledge became public through dismissal of a suit by Supreme Court Justice Brady, which the state brought against the Mercantile Safe Deposit company to collect a $1,000 statutory penalty for permitting Charles H. Osborne, an executor of the Sage estate, to remove from its vaults certain securities deposited as collateral for loans made by Sage. Osborne, giving testimony, declared he alone had a full list of the Sage securities. He said the dead financier exacted a twenty per cent margin on his loans, which at his death amounted to $33,000,000.

MARSHALLS THROUGH

VICE PRESIDENT AND WIFE QUIT HOUSE HUNTING AND WILL STAY IN HOTEL DURING TERM

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Vice-President and Mrs. Marshall are through with house hunting. The vice presidential quarters while the Hoosier statesman is in office—will be a hotel.

"What's the use of house hunting all your life," said the vice president today. "Mrs. Marshall and I have decided we will live in a hotel the rest of the time we are here. You will do me a favor if you will tell that to all the real estate dealers and make them quit chasing us."

"I'll bet Mrs. Marshall has looked at 300 houses in Washington. We had two rented and lost them both. Now we're through; we're done; we're going to stay in a hotel. We don't want the real estate dealers bothering us any more here. We have our own automobile and do not want to ride in agents cars any more."

MRS. JOHN LAYER GOES TO REWARD

After an illness of a year Mrs. John Layer, 1902 South Eighth street, died yesterday morning at her home. Death was caused by heart trouble.

Born in Germany, July 25, 1836, and marrying Mr. Layer in 1857, Mrs. Layer and her husband came to this country eighteen years ago, settling in Lansing, Iowa, and shortly after coming to La Crosse. She is survived by six children. They are: Herman, Los Angeles, Cal.; Ernest, Lansing, John, Ellendale, N. D.; George, Osage, Iowa; Mrs. Elizabeth Dume, Walcott, N. D., and Louisa Ellendale, N. D.

Arrangements for the funeral will be made later.

In the effort to secure an accurate record of the hen's egg achievements, an aluminum crayon-holder has been invented by which the chicken makes her mark as she leaves the nest. The color of the crayon indicates the particular bird.

SMART MODELS FOR NEW FABRICS

EDITED BY
MAY MANTON

Unhappily her mirror does not always speak the truth, for we are likely to see what we like to see, not what really is there; therefore, at this opening season, a note of warning may well be sounded.

FASHIONS at their best have been developed to a really attractive stage. The unwomanly and even pitiful exhibitions that have been seen for the past months do not represent correct style. If only the wearers themselves instead of their dressmakers would study their personal needs and the harmonious ensemble that M. Poiret so emphasizes, very fascinating, very good things would result. Again, designers and model makers consider only the young. The middle-aged and the elderly must think for themselves. While it is never desirable to emphasize, age, never a good thing to let go the spirit and the spring of youth, the wearing of over-bright colors and extremes of any sort only brings about the result it is aimed to avoid. The woman with throat that gives the unmistakable evidence of youth that is spent does not accomplish rejuvenation by the wearing of a blouse with an open neck. She is better gowned, more youthful in effect, more attractive in every way with a little chemisette that conceals the marks of time. A great many brilliant colors will be worn this autumn. The woman of fifty will do well to pass them by or to use them only in the bits that give life and brilliancy to the costume without creating a contrast that youth alone can withstand.

NEVER were such marvelous fabrics seen! Some of the silks are actually regal in effect and certainly regal in cost. No matter of what substance the threads are composed, the fabric is soft and pliable. Many of the silks designed for the leading dressmakers include metal threads that are rich and even superb and yet they can be drawn through the hand without crushing as easily and readily as mousseline itself. Chiffon velvet has come back to us in intensified beauty. It is shown to us in exquisite plain colors and also in a brocaded effect that is a genuine delight. Every possible variation of the velvet finish is to be used but perhaps nothing is more fascinating than the duvetyn that is woven of silk and wool, for the velvet finish and the depth of the nap give a richness and color that never before have been seen.

AMONG the advanced models exploited by a leading house are two costumes, one combining blue moire with black satin, one plain éponge with plaid. The blue and black costume consists of a draped skirt of black satin and a long belted coat of blue moire over which is adjusted a wide girdle of the black. The suit of éponge consists of a plain three-piece skirt with curved, overlapping edges at the front and a charming loose coat. The skirt is all of the plain éponge with a band of the plaid finishing the front and lower edges. The coat is of the plaid with oddly shaped collar and cuffs of the plain.

As has been stated in previous letters, a great many blouses of color contrasting with the skirt will be used in the making of three-piece costumes. A charmingly attractive mode of the sort is made of blue serge with a kimono blouse of plaid surah, but there is a wide pointed girdle of the serge that comes well up on the bodice to give the costume idea. Women who are seeking novelties for the early season will find this suggestion of value. The black or blue suit of the spring can be practically remodeled by the addition of a brightly colored crêpe or silk blouse with a deep girdle or sash to match the skirt. While it is hardly likely that the "powers that be" have had such economy in mind, sashes, girdles, contrasting blouses and waistcoats are real helps to the woman who must count the cost. The new silks are already exploited and they are especially well adapted to such use. The plaids are ravishingly beautiful by no means over bright, the embroidered crêpes are more lovely than could well be described and both the brocade and the brocaded fabrics offer real treats of color and design.

SUCH wonderful afternoon toilets as result from the lovely materials and the beautiful colors! Everything that is picturesque is fashionable and the visiting hour allows the use of the richest fabrics. Among the novelties must be mentioned soft finished China crêpe hand embroidered, the designs for the most part taking the form of flowers in their natural colors on a bright ground, and the material is beautiful for blouse, waistcoats, etc. The ribbons of the season are marvels of beauty and of the manufacturer's art, and ribbon sashes are extensively worn with afternoon dresses. Often they give a note of bright color on a black or dark colored gown. Everything that shows a brocaded or broché effect is in the height of style. A great many exceedingly smart costumes combine one of these materials with a plain one and the blouses with plaited peplums are especially well liked for such combinations. In the picture is shown a gown with skirt of broché crêpe and a blouse of the same material in plain color with touches of velvet in the trimming, and the combination is both smart and handsome. For afternoon toilets both long and short skirts are to be worn, and almost every known variation of the blouse but the peplum and waistcoat ideas are conspicuous. Wraps are ideal. The newest ones are made in kimono style, but are drawn about the figure to form graceful drapery. They are especially well adapted to the rich fabrics exploited for their making, and brocaded silk velvet and brocaded wool velours are made into wraps that are very dreams of fascinating colors. As a matter of course plain material is used for trimming.

MAY MANTON'S FASHION NOTES.

JUST now we are fairly overwhelmed with the displays of beautiful fabrics, with new models that are temptingly offered and with daily telegrams that tell what Paris has to show. No less an authority than M. Poiret in a printed interview urges upon womankind the necessity for care and discrimination. He asserts that to be well dressed, one must be fittingly dressed and that every other consideration must be made subservient to the person. Never has there been greater need that such truth should be burned into the mind than at the present moment, for, while there is much that is ravishingly beautiful, there are many dangers for the unwary. Fashion always considers the svelte figure in making her models. Since by no means all of us are built on such lines, it behooves each to study herself and to demand such adaptation as her own needs require. The prevailing silhouette gives breadth between the hips and the knees. Draperies are largely massed at the front of the skirt while the width about the feet is narrow. When these effects are well handled, exceedingly beautiful as well as smart costumes result but the woman who already has large hips and a slightly protruding abdomen is hopeless when so gowned.

Chicago Livestock
CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Wheat opened easier today, influenced by the Liverpool cable and heavy northwestern receipts. Some buying in September futures caused a partial recovery toward noon, but December continued to weaken.
Corn was firm at the start, despite a lower cable. The fact that it is near time for a closing in on September contracts made the trade in September futures irregular and nervous, and at the end of the morning session, Sept. prices showed a gain of 3/4c for the forenoon. December advanced 1/4c in the same period.
Oats held about steady during the forenoon. The early weakness in wheat was about offset by the strength in corn and oats traders held the market within a very narrow range.
Trade in provisions was very dull, prices shading higher because of the strong hog market.
Wheat and corn futures were fractionally easier toward the close, affording the only feature in the afternoon trading.
Oats showed a firmer tendency. Provisions closed at about noon prices.

Chicago Livestock
CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Wheat opened easier today, influenced by the Liverpool cable and heavy northwestern receipts. Some buying in September futures caused a partial recovery toward noon, but December continued to weaken.

Corn was firm at the start, despite a lower cable. The fact that it is near time for a closing in on September contracts made the trade in September futures irregular and nervous, and at the end of the morning session, Sept. prices showed a gain of 3/4c for the forenoon. December advanced 1/4c in the same period.

Oats held about steady during the forenoon. The early weakness in wheat was about offset by the strength in corn and oats traders held the market within a very narrow range.

Trade in provisions was very dull, prices shading higher because of the strong hog market.
Wheat and corn futures were fractionally easier toward the close, affording the only feature in the afternoon trading.
Oats showed a firmer tendency. Provisions closed at about noon prices.

His Inference.

Robert had been dutifully listening to the conversation of his parents. They were discussing a certain Mrs. Smith who was tagged in their talk as a grass widow. "I say, pa," said Robert after some reflection, "is a grass widow a woman whose husband died of hay fever?"

BADGER LINE HAS WEAK LEFT WING

Hoefel and Samp Graduate and Gelein Is Ineligible; Right Side Strong

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 22.—(Special.)—The coaching staff at Wisconsin is up against a grave situation caused by the passing of the entire left half of the 1912 line. It was bad enough to lose Hoefel and Samp by graduation, but now comes the news that Edward Gelein, regular left guard, will be ineligible to play this year. Thus the left half of the line is wiped out entirely. Moreover, the coaches will have plenty to do to look after the department formerly covered by Gillette, quarterback, and Van Riper and Bright, halfbacks, lost by graduation. To develop a backfield from the reserves which will have the dependability and fighting power of last year's famous crew is the task that now faces Juneau and his assistants. There is general uncertainty among the candidates over their probable positions, and there will necessarily be much shifting about to find the best men for each particular point in the line.

Right Side Different
On the other side of the line the situation is different, and gratifyingly so. Ostie, right end, Butler, all-American tackle, Keeler, left guard, and Walt Powell, center, all veterans of the championship 1912 team, there seems little chance of anyone else breaking into their territory, and candidates might as well center their hopes on landing berths on the stricken left side.

Tormey, last year's star sub in the quarterback position, is a probable choice for handling Gillette's job this year. Captain Tandberg will probably handle the punting department.

Many Good Candidates
There is a plentiful array of good men to try out for the vacant positions, the number including Lange, reserve for two years; Stavrum, 1912 freshman captain; Buck of Eau Claire, last year's freshman tackle; Freeman, 1912 player and oarsman;

Zinke, a substitute for Butler last year; Van Ghent, injured last season; Ambler, freshman guard last year; Schmidt, sub center last year; Moffet, sub fullback; Tormey, Alexander and Berger, halfbacks, who have shown high class on the first eleven. Tormey was used at halfback with success last year, but his peculiar ability lies in the quarterback position, which calls for lots of speed and field generalship. This Tormey has in a marked degree.

Practice will be held twice daily until next Thursday afternoon, and thereafter once a day.

BOXING BOARD TO LET LANGFORD FIGHT

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Gunboat Smith will be given the acid test in a bout with Sam Langford here next Friday night through a decision of the New York boxing commission announced today which kills the color lines and gives the Boston Tar Baby the chance to scrap.

Langford is said to be in good shape. At his camp today it was said he would weigh in at about 180. He is considered the class of the match. Jim Buckley, Smith's manager, predicts a knockout. "If Gunboat's right lands," he said, "Langford's star will set."

Way to Rest.
Lying flat on the floor is a good way to rest and relax, but a much better way is to lie flat on the floor with legs up to the knees resting on a chair. This changes the entire circulation and is the very quickest way to rest. To rest the eyes and make them bright, while lying down have them bandaged with a soft black silk handkerchief.

United States Moved Slowly.
Polygamy was declared a felony in England in 1604, but it was not until 1866 that the congress made plurality marriages unlawful in the United States.

Quite the Contrary.
"Have you seen Mamie's engagement ring?" "Of course! Did you have an idea that she was making an effort to hide it?"—Detroit Free Press.

JOY HANGS OVER GOPHER GRIDIRON

Prospects for Classy Eleven Bright with Wealth of Veteran Material

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 22.—The University of Minnesota began its 1913 football season Saturday with the initial practice on Northrop field, attended by a wealth of veteran material and a string of recruits that was an evident pleasure to Coach Henry L. Williams. The reverse of 1912 conditions prevailed.

The specter of scholastic delinquency skulks near and a number of men will have to make the percentage weight on the academic scales before they can don official togs. Among those said to be under faculty ban at the present time are Solem, veteran end; Ostrom, the 185 pound guard, and Mattern, as one of many promising recruits.

Donald Aldworth, who showed brilliantly at end last year, will captain the team. He is regarded as a surety at left end, while Fournier has the call on the other line extremity. Shaughnessy and Sawyer are booked for tackles, with Ostrom and Rosenthal for guards. Robertson will be back at his old position at center. The line is not nearly as heavy as in the old days of beef and brawn.

The back field will be light and shifty. McAlmon, general favorite for all-western half back last year, again will contribute his line plunging. The Bierman brothers and Mattern will strive for the other half. At the quarterback position will be Tollefson, who in his short career before disbarment last year showed promise of being a second Steffens. To replace Capt. Tabin at fullback will be Solon, a recruit, who as a scrub in practice last year caused the varsity much worry.

Social Good in All These.
There is a great deal of social good to be done in putting down gossip, in preventing misunderstandings, and in keeping friends with everybody.—Lowett.

Watching The Scoreboard

BY HAL SHERIDAN.
A good idea of an embarrassing position may be gained by taking a look at the standing of the Phillies and Cleveland.

Both now have a fight on to hold tight to second place. The Phillies joined the Naps in this position by dropping two games to the Cubs, who are now within striking distance of the Giant chasers.

The Cubs gathered eight runs on ten hits in the first game while the Phillies realized but seven from seventeen safeties.

Saier hit for a single, double and home run in five times up. The Giants pulled four errors in the first game against Cincinnati and Indian Johnson let them down with six hits and no runs.

Stick work improved in the second game and the Giants connected for 13 hits and seven runs off Ames and Brown. The Reds got to Demaree and Marquard for five hits and an equal number of runs. The Cards went deeper into the cellar by dropping two games to Boston. The Braves made five hits good for two runs in the first game, while the Cards failed to score with eight hits.

WOULD MEET PELKY

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Arthur Pelky, who killed Luther McCarty at Calgary and Charley Miller, the big California, who is to meet Al Palzer here Wednesday night, will be matched in San Francisco if Miller can best the Iowan. James Coffroth, the San Francisco promoter, wires Miller today offering the match under these conditions. No definite date was set.
